South Bay Surgery Center

South Bay Surgery Center, Inc. is the outpatient surgical division of Los Olivos Women's Medical Group. Outpatient surgery includes all procedures performed in the office setting. The South Bay Surgical Center is accredited as an Ambulatory Healthcare Center (AHC) by The Joint Commission, which sets standards for safe, high-quality care, treatment and services.

All procedures performed at Los Olivos Women's Medical Group include both a professional (physician) component and a surgical center fee. Your insurance company will be billed for both components of the procedure. You may receive a copy of the explanation of benefits (EOB) from your insurance company that shows the individual payments for both aspects of the procedure.

Deductibles and co-payments for the professional fee provided by your physician are due to Los Olivos Women's Medical Group. The management company, American Surgical Centers, does South Bay Surgery Center billing. If your insurance company denies the surgical center fee, you should not receive additional fees from South Bay Surgical Center. Should you need to contact American Surgical Centers management company, the number is (800) 695-3755.
